

Get Out of Town

You've got no shortage of great day trips from Washington, D.C., at your disposal, but the Market at Grelen, about two hours south of the city, is a one-of-a-kind garden retreat perfect for a springtime getaway with colorful garden blooms and activities to enjoy. Set on a 600-acre tree farm, it features an expansive garden and gift shop, farm-to-table dining options, extensive Virginia wine, beer, and cider offerings, Pick-Your-Own Fields, and more. Consider the five miles of hiking trails, picnic areas, and even the chance to explore on horseback with Grelen's trail riding offerings. Check what's on at the calendar online and make your plan.
